Besides the new road referred to, other improvements are seen hearer the hotel—a concrete walk is being laid around the circle in front of the hotel and extending to the spring-house; roses and plants of many species have frecently been planted and everything possible is being done for the beauty and attractiveness of the place, and the pleasure and comfort of the guests. The scalal atmosphere here is restful, pleasant and congenial. There is no reversh rush after amusements, but somehow time never drags and one can always be entertained. Cards in a calm and quiet rashion are the chief indoor pastime, even the exciting bridge is played so conservatively that no one fears the fate of Edith Wharton's, charming heroine. This simple life is especially suited to the majority of the suests who come here, for rest and quiet which, with the now famóus waters, send many away well and all benefitted.

In the ploturesque old chapel of St. Roch, near Now Orleans, and in the beautiful Cathedral of St. Anne de Beaupre in the little Canadian village on the St. Lawrence, the visitor is shown great-piles of crutches which the healed have left behind as proof of their faith and healing. Dear Sir: County Commissioner E W.
Fassett had his house, 322 W Sth street;
Erle, Pa, painted Devoe in August 1901.

In March 1902, he had three others to paint and thought our price too high,
Bought a "just as good" for one house; the others he painted Devoe. Said he'd find-out by experience.

Guess he did, for he's used Devoe seyeral times since; he's got the habit.

The queer of it is that people should grudge the cost of good paint, when it's worth about 50 times the difference.

Good is cheap, whatever the price; and bad is dear, st no price at an; it costs too much to put-on.

Devoe is a good paint; good paint is, Devoe. There is no other Devoe; there is no other good paint.
